

A close-up photograph of a culinary torch heating a spoon with a yellow substance, surrounded by other spoons containing various powders on a dark surface. The torch's flame is a mix of blue and orange, directed at a spoon filled with a bright yellow powder. Several other white ceramic spoons are arranged in a row on a dark, textured surface, each containing different colored powders: orange, yellow, purple, and brown. The background is dark and out of focus, showing more kitchen tools like forks and knives.
